'With my son having a diagnosis of Autism, he has struggled with social skills, self-awareness, self-confidence , and conversational skills , all of which we feel as parents are important in him being able to develop his friendships within school. Talkabout intervention focuses on all these areas and is making a huge difference with his self-confidence, and he has already been able to make friendships which has made a massive impact on his happiness within school.'

'We would like to thank Miss Wright and Mrs Stimpson who have shown outstanding professionalism and kindness.'
